Castles

Develop your stronghold from scratch using different strategies – choose the path of steady economic growth, ruthless raids of enemy strongholds, thoughtful trading, wise diplomacy and alliance teamplay or any mixture of those that you find convenient.

Units

During the course of the game you can conquer more castles and recruit more than 30 units – infantry, archers, cavalry, siege machines and nation specific special units. These troops can be further trained to improve their attack and defence capabilities.

Army formation

The greatest asset of the game is the battle tactics system. There are literally thousands of different strategies for you to find out while you compete with other players. Spying your opponents is also crucial in the times of war.

Nations

You can choose from 12 well balanced nations, each having a bonus that impacts your economy, battle strength or trading. In time you can recruit nation specific units that will change your battle tactics and help you gain an edge over your opponents.

Skills

Designed to grant an invaluable advantage in your economic and battle growth. Some of them grant bonuses to your army or help your economy while others improve your trading capabilities and experience gain.

Knights

Members of the nobility, they master the art of war and use it to secure victories for your army. Knights can also use the power of ancient artifacts to affect the outcome of battles and increase the prosperity of the castles they rule.
