The realm of Managore offers endless possibilities to anyone who wants to become a great leader. Apart from the countless epic battles with numerous enemy armies, each ruler can prove their own personal combat abilities by dueling other players at the Arena.

When dueling, a player's equipment is a vital aspect in the preparation for the ultimate goal – the defeat of Managore's keepers. Keep in mind that heroes can be proud and will wear only special artifacts with magic properties. The game supplies many possibilities for acquiring powerful equipment for the rulers of your Kingdoms.

To create an artifact you must first acquire a craft item. In the realm of Managore there are several ways of winning a craft item. In a battle with a player, when you army is attacking or plundering, you have the chance of winning a craft item, if the battle brought you at least 1000 Battle points. It can also be bought from the market using runes or from the auction using Credits. A craft item can also be gained at the Arena by stealing it from the enemy hero.

After you have acquired a craft item your goal is to turn it into an artifact. This can be done only at an Enchanted forest, but first your armies must prove themselves worthy by defeating the warriors guarding the forest.

When you venture into the realm you may consider getting acquainted with the merchants that inhabit it. The rune keeper will offer you wide range of craft items and artifacts at his store. Of course many other warriors will be fighting alongside you for Managore's head. They also have nice goods to offer.

There is a rumor that you are good at gambling. In that case you must have noticed that at the Auction people bet enough for some very good artifacts.

Each artifact gives a significant bonus to a certain skill, depending on its type. For example, weapons improve the hero's attack, shields – their defense and Demonism skill, boots – defense and Active defense skill. You probably want to master all skills, don't you?

Furthermore, combining certain artifacts boosts the attack, defense and hit points even more, making your heroes incredibly powerful, making them masters of the Arena.

Choose your hero, prove their abilities, equip them with powerful artifacts and beat every single opponent on the Arena in Managore!